CHEYNEY and victory.

Get together, Republicans, and push the work.

The District Judges of Arizona are overworked.

The Chronicle heads its telegraphic report of the Albuquerque fair "Arizona's Exposition." We were not aware before that Albuquerque was classed as an Arizona city.

The Republican County Central Committee met yesterday and appointed September 25 as the day on which the primaries should be held and September 28 for the County Convention.

A telegram from Washington gives the information that the population of Arizona is 59,091, an increase of 9,251 since 1880. The population of Tucson is given at 8065, a decrease of 1921.

PRESCOTT has at last agreed that Yavapai County should be divided, and now proposes an amicable convention, wherein the claims of each portion of the county will be considered and adjusted. Cocoonino County will materialize during the next legislature.

The Tucson Citizen very pertinently remarks: "Utah would have been a State years ago but for the fact that it has been ruled by a criminal organization falsely styling itself a religious association. Does Arizona wish to 'dress up' with Utah and remain forever in tutelage?"

"MARK SMITH killed the Land Court Bill!" say the Democratic orators. Did he? Yesterday's REPUBLICAN contained in its complete telegraphic report of the proceedings of Congress a detailed account of a debate upon this very bill. And Mark Smith's name does not appear, at all in the proceedings.

The Gazette speaks of Mr. Monihan's postoffice. The gentleman named has no connection with the moving of the postoffice, outside of the fact that he furnishes at a satisfactory rental, the room in which it is to be placed. The prime movers in the change of the post-office are Messrs. Sherman, Lewis, Goodrich, Coats and W. J. Murphy.

GEORGE W. CHEYNEY will serve Arizona as he would push his own business. He is a man of keen intelligence, active and pushing; his acquaintance is extensive among the Senators and Representatives in Congress; his knowledge of the workings of legislative bodies is extensive. In these attributes and many more he is the superior of the present delegate.

MARK SMITH won his election by means of a bogus dispatch, circulated throughout the Territory on the eve of the election. It purported to be a resumé of a speech of his opponent, General Wilson, delivered at Bisbee, and contained a number of assertions that were strongly condemned by the voters of either political party. Upon this fraudulent dispatch Mark Smith spoke at length on the plain in Phoenix and, by dilating upon its features, exhibited his opponent as a villain of the deepest dye. Yet, he knew that the dispatch was a lie—a lie concocted and sprung by Democratic tricksters in Tombstone, and, doubtless, at his instigation. On this he was elected and on a similar line he seeks reelection. He will not succeed.

LIBERTY OF CONSCIENCE.

Mormons permit no questioning of the orders of the church. An edict of the Czar of Russia is not so faithfully and quickly obeyed as a command from the central authorities at Salt Lake. No Mormon can tell what way he will finally vote on any proposition until the circular letter is read by the bishop of the ward. Then all argument ceases and blind, unswerving and ignorant obedience takes its place. At the last election in Apache county the order was given, "vote the straight Democratic ticket," and 340 Mormons (every one in the county) went to the polls on election day and each of these slaves took from his pocket the Democratic ticket which had been given him on the Sunday previous, and cast it for the party which at all times and in all places panders to crime and puts the law-breakers on the back.

Such is the liberty of conscience which this organization tolerates.

In Apache County last week a handsome and intelligent Mormon girl, true to the teachings of a loving heart, flew to the strong arms of her Gentile lover and was married. This was open rebellion and led to the howl of the Saints. The happy couple then went to New Mexico with the best wishes of the Gentiles and the curses "not loud but deep" of the Mormons.

What would have been the fate of this young American had the Mormon control been unlimited, as was voiced by one of the patriarchs of the church the day after the wedding. He said, "He," speaking of the bridegroom, "should have been killed." This old sinner had lived in Utah when the mandate of the church was supreme; when Porter Rockwell and Bill Hickman were Brigham Young's "destroying angels," and when these devils incarnate lay and assassinated men and women who dared to protest in the mildest manner against any saying of Young's.

He with the rest of the Mormons were wishing at that time that the will of the church was supreme as in former days. Not one man, woman or child belonging to the Saints call on this young lady. Her womanhood revolts at the crimes against virtue which she had witnessed, and she refused to submit to the order of the church to become the polygamous wife of one of the leading Mormons in Apache county.

Had this marriage been contemplated not many years ago, in Utah, the lover of this fair Mormon would have been taken to the church and mutilated in such a disgusting and terrible manner as would make even an Apache shudder, and this mutilation would have been the same as a young Mormon suffered in Utah, some years since, at the hands of Apostle Erasmus Snow, because he refused to surrender to the loathsome and lustful embrace of this oft-time married and inhuman monster, Snow, his fond and loving sweetheart. And then to terrorize his congregation this preacher of the gospel hung up over his pulpit the parts taken from the young hero, and told the people in his sermon the following Sunday that such was the way the church compelled obedience to the will of its leaders.

And still Americans are found low enough to endorse an organization which commended such horrible deeds in the name of religion. Examples by the dozen such as these can be found set forth in the history of this crime-loving organization which prelates on the house tops how much it loves liberty of conscience.

The act for the purification of elections, now under consideration in Congress, is termed by the Democrats "the force bill." They oppose it unanimously, alleging that their opposition is based upon a pure love of country and a hatred of any form of centralized power. The bill, however, was framed for the purpose of securing to every legal voter within the United States the right to cast a free and uninfluenced ballot. Under its provisions the negro of the South would be protected in his constitutional right. Should he vote and vote as he surely would, against his taskmasters, the Solid South in a twinkling would cease to be Democratic. These facts are fully appreciated by both political parties, and the Democrats seeing that the passage of the bill would mean the disappearance of their party from the National field, naturally rage against it, and have set every effective engine at work to accomplish its defeat. The bill is just and should become a law of the land. If the negro be a voter he should be allowed to vote; if he be not a voter his State should not be allowed representation in Congress for him. If the negro be too ignorant to vote let there be some educational qualification demanded, and let that qualification bear with equal severity upon all men, whether white or black.

Says the Tucson Citizen: "The demagogic cry of the Democratic party is a reduction of governmental expenses. The consistency of that organization is shown in the nomination of Pete Brady, of Florence, for Congressman at large for the southern district over Francis Heney. Brady is one of the bondsmen for 'Little Steve,' who evaporated with $6000 of the people's money. Not only bondsmen was the Hon. Peter Brady, but supervisor of the prisons, and 'Little Steve's' superior, and as such it was his duty to look after his subordinates. Mr. Brady is now fighting the payment of the bonds. If he were in the legislature his opportunity for success would be greater. There would be still another avenue of usefulness for the Hon. Peter Brady in the Sixteenth Legislature and that would be to help Johnny Behan to grab salary. In fact Mr. Brady is so closely identified with numerous thrifty projects that it would stand the Democratic party in hand to be strictly economical. Mr. Heney was a different stripe of man. His selection would at least have been in the line of the spacious promises which the Democratic party is so willing to give, if it never performs. But the nomination of Pete Brady is entirely too gauzy. It can be seen through."

PROCLAMATION OF REWARD.

To whom it may concern:

WHEREAS, It has come to my knowledge that Ed. Baker, eldest son of J. H. Baker, who resides at Lookout, on the Sierra Ancha mountains, about forty miles north of Globe, Gila county, was murdered in a most brutal manner by some person or persons unknown, (though the presence of Indian tracks in the immediate vicinity strongly indicate that the crime was committed by Indians).

Now, therefore, I, Louis Wolfley, Governor of the Territory of Arizona, by virtue of the power within me vested do hereby offer a reward in the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars to be paid out of the treasury of the Territory for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who committed the aforementioned crime.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the Territory to be affixed.
Done at Phoenix, the capital, this 26th day of July, A. D. 1890.
